ROBERT FARR,

At his CHEAP BREAD MANUFACTORY,

N° 18, ST. MARTIN's LE GRAND,

BEGS leave to inform his Cuſtomers and the Public in general, that the Shop now opened againſt him is ſupported by a ſet of artful over-grown FULL PRICE BAKERS (as they ſtile themſelves), for the ſole purpoſe of ſtopping any Bread from being Sold under the full Price in that Neighbourhood.—The Names of them will be given in a few Days by a Hand Bill, wherein R. FARR will inform the Cuſtomers of thoſe Gentlemen where they may have the ſame Bread at Seven Pence, that they are paying Eightpence-Halfpenny for, being Three Halfpence in the Quartern ſaving to them.—Now, the Oppoſition to his Shop having ariſen from the Motives above-mentioned, R. F. is convinced that his Cuſtomers will not go from him for the trifling Advantage of One Halfpenny in the Quartern, which will ceaſe the Inſtant they have effected their Purpoſe, that is, when no Bread can be bought under the full Price. R. F. likewiſe informs the Public, that he is Building with all ſpeed, Two large Ovens, when he is determined to ſend Bread Home to Private Families at the ſame Price, on being Paid on delivery, ſuch advantageous Terms never offered to the Public before.
